YALE TAKES SERIES WITH HARVARD

Blue Wins Final Game 5 to 2-Sensational Fielding by Crimson Players-Both Pitchers Steady and Effective-Reeves Retires With Split Fingers.

Cambridge, Mass., June 19 .- Topping | esterday's 9 to 6 victory at New Haen with a win today over Harvard on Soldiers field by a score of 5 to 2, Yale won the 1912 baseball series from the game was cleanly played before a large class day crowd.

Hartwell pitched consistently good ball for Yale. Reeves, the Crimson catcher, had to retire in the sixth with a split finger, received on a foul tip.
Smashing the first ball which Bartholf pitched nearly every time, the Yale men made five hits. One was a triple by McGhie in the seventh, for three runs and the lead. Again in the ninth attacks on the first ball resulted in a single by McGhie and a homer by Captain Merritt, adding two runs to the Blue total. Earlier in the game Bartholf had held Yale runless with men on second and third and one out. Both pitchers were unusually steady, no base on balls being given throughout the game. Harvard played a splendid fielding game, in which Babson, Gibson and Wingate, the newly elected captain, starred. Except for an error on a ground ball, Gross playing in left field for Yale was noteworthy.
